

This is useful if you have an initial approval step that is optional for small expense reports or purchase orders.