

You can now assign a single corporate card to multiple users

This gives you the ability to have a shared corporate credit card whereby employees can "use" their own charges from the card once they come in.