

This took us a couple days to complete. Each customer is a little different, but our integration settings are quite flexible and we keep extended it as required.