

You've always been able to view unlinked card transactions by the administrator interface, but this means our reporting system can now report on the credit card transactions directly, including those that have not yet been used in an expense report.